

The Works of Blossom

O'Bradovich

Blossom O'Bradovich

was born and raised in the Midwest, until she moved to Florida two years ago. Blossom is currently pursuing a degree in nursing, but does art on the side. She finds inspiration in many different areas. By practicing and experimenting with different mediums, she continues to learn her strengths as an artist. She chooses her subjects based on personal meaning and aesthetics. Blossom simplifies her artwork to show the most important attributes of the subject, but enjoys the details of realism. In contrast to procedurally limiting studies such as chemistry, physics, and calculus, art gives her a creative but also therapeutic outlet she otherwise would not have. Her drive comes from her inner pain and emotions; Blossom is constantly creating as an outlet for her emotions. Wanting to produce good art inspires her to learn and grow as an artist.
